

Here's a website with info on how to rotate text in Microsoft Word by converting it to a Word Art object: <http://support.microsoft.com/?kbid=312802#5>

How I did this, below: I typed a couple of lines of symbols, then on the menu clicked View->Toolbars->Word Art. I highlighted the symbols I just typed, and then on the WordArt toolbar, clicked the cockeyed A on the left (Insert WordArt). I selected the WordArt style at the very top right (solid black), then hit the 3rd option from the right on the WordArt toolbar (made the text horizontal instead of vertical). I could then click to select the entire WordArt object and freely rotate it to any angle.
